

Subject: Important Discussion about "Ryan's Story" Presentation

Dear [School Name] Families,

We hope this email finds you well. We wanted to take this opportunity to remind you that your child attended the "Ryan's Story" presentation by John Halligan today. This powerful presentation aims to spread awareness and prevention of bullying, cyberbullying, and teen suicide.

We understand that this can be a sensitive topic, but it is essential for parents and guardians to have an open and honest discussion with their children about the impact of Mr. Halligan's presentation. The presentation was designed to provoke thought and inspire positive change in behavior, and continuing this conversation at home is essential.

We encourage you to take the time to sit down with your child and discuss their thoughts and feelings about the presentation. Ask them what they learned and how it made them feel. Encourage them to share any concerns or questions they may have. This dialogue will not only help them process the information but also reinforce the importance of kindness, empathy, and respect towards others.

If you have any concerns or questions about the presentation or need assistance in facilitating this conversation, please do not hesitate to reach out to us. We are here to support you and your child.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. Together, we can make a difference in creating a safe and inclusive environment for all our students.

Best regards,
[School Name] Administration
